AYERS ANSWERS.

Makes Public Basis of the Charges in Trigg County.

Shows Why He Said He Knew Who Wrote Letter To Robt Wallis.

A Fulton special to the Courier-Journal says:

In support of his statement made in his annual report, that he knew the author of an anonymous letter received by Robert Wallace, of Rinaldo, Mott Ayres, State Fire Marshal, Saturday made public the facts which he secured and which he presented to the Trigg County grand jury. The Fulton Daily Leader contained the exhibits in the case, showing the basis to the statement made by Mr. Ayres that he knew who had written the letter.

It has been charged by the county Attorney, Trigg county that Mr. Ayres failed to produce any evidence in support of his statement that he knew the author of the anonymous letter received by Mr. Wallace, and also that Mr. Ayres failed to appear before the grand jury, as he said he would, to testify regarding the letter. These charges against Mr. Ayres caused him to make public the evidence he secured.

About October 6, 1906, Mr. Wallace received an anonymous letter inclosed in one of the Champion Bridge Company's envelopes--the printed name of the Champion Bridge Company having been crudely erased.

A comparison of the two characters of envelopes shows conclusively that the anonymous letter was inclosed in one of the Champion Bridge Company's envelopes. The letter was as follows:

Oct. the 3 1906 Mr. Bob Wallace kind Sir and friend I take this opportunity to write you a few lines in regard to the course you are taken. Now Mr. Wallace we are tired of the Trust robbing the people. So we are determined to down them at all hazards and we consider you one of those Soundreals. So if you are going to pin your faith to the avowed enemy of your own people you will have to take pot luck with the. We mean just exactly what we say, we are not going to lay down and be robbed by you at all now my brother it will pay you to lay low and keep quiet.

A hint to the wise is sufficient we dont want to have to go after you but if we have to we can do it and do it to perfection. yours Truly answer at once a member of The D. T. F. A.

Prior to October 1906, the Champion Bridge Company of Wilmington, Ohio, sent to Magistrate N. E. Nabb, at Wallonia, several of their stamped, self addressed envelopes and Magistrate Nabb never returned any to the Company and so retained them in his possession.

Shortly after receiving the letter Mr. Wallace received one of the disgraced attentions which have disgraced the community, and his barn was burned and his tobacco destroyed.

MR. AYRES' REPORT.

The Leader says: State Fire Marshal, Mott Ayres was certainly justified in declaring in his annual report: "The author of the letter is known to this department;" and he undoubtedly had Magistrate Nabb in mind when he penned that sentence. Magistrate Nabb did write the letter, but as we have already said, whether he was in any wise a guilty or felonious participant in the tobacco burning which followed the letter, we expressly disclaim any knowledge, simply leaving that matter to everybody to decide for himself upon the facts as they may appear to him.

A simple justice to the State Fire Marshal has impelled us to give these facts, especially as one or two of our contemporaries, notably the Cadiz Record in its issue of May 30, have undoubtedly endeavored to create the impression that Fire Marshal Ayres, had made an unfounded charge.

An obvious effort has been made to cover up any evidence of the threats of the tobacco burning outrages and a despicable attempt has been made to place Fire Marshal Ayres in a false position in reference to the investigation of these outrages. Numerous publications have been made with a view to creating the impression that after Fire Marshal Ayres had notified the Trigg county authorities of evidence that might lead to the conviction of the criminals he failed to appear before the grand jury and give the proper information. Fire Marshal Ayres furnished to the grand jury through the proper channel all of the evidence which we have reproduced herewith except the opinions of the experts, which it was not his duty to supply. His actual presence before the grand jury was prevented by the illness of his wife and other official duties, and even if he had been there he could have added nothing to the documentary evidence which he submitted to the grand jury.

The Leader also prints affidavits of S. S. Eastwood, Charles Merriweather, Lewis Ryan and M. R. Teedale, experts in handwriting. The first two give it as their opinions to "moral certainty," and the others state positively that the threatening letter and an official document signed by N. E. Nabb in 1903 were written by the same person. Col. Ayres himself makes the same direct charge.

WHAT WOMEN WEAR

COSTUMES IN SHANTUNG SILK AND CHIFFON

Some one has spoken of the present year as a "season of plaids" but this is only true of tailor-mades for morning wear; one rarely, if ever, sees a plaid gown worn in the afternoon. On the other hand, stripes are in the full flood of favor, in every possible material; gray and white stripes and dull blue and white stripes are immensely fashionable and in many cases the striped materials are worked with plain-faced cloth in a particularly effective manner.

Recently I saw a costume of this order carried out in dull shades of gray, with the best effects. The skirt which was round and fully gored, was made of the striped material, and there was a deep hem of plain cloth, headed by handsome braiding in a rather dark shade of gray. There was a very short coat—which barely reached below the waist—with a sac back and double-breasted front; the coat itself was made of plain cloth, but the lower portion of the Kimono sleeves showed stripes, and there was a blouse of chalk white gullupure inset with motifs of embroidered muslin. It was a most original-looking little gown, and was accompanied by a cloche of Tusore straw, with dark gray velvet ribbons twisted round the crown and hanging in a bunch of ends at the right side, over the brim, and a clump of purple violets close to the front.

A novel fabric which should claim considerable attention for the making of summer dresses, either in bodice and skirt style or Chinese coat and skirt fashion, is Tusore silk striped, producing admirable effects in mixtures of blue and white, and holland color and white, and mauve and white. I have seen these excellently made, and very simply trimmed with cross-way bands of the same material, with the bodice or coat showing pendant tassels to match, the under-sleeves and the vest being of tucked lawn.

Also I would hold a brief for plain Tusore, or Shantung, as the authorities have now elected to call it, while they have dyed it in every conceivable color, and also accept it with pleasure when it assumes its most natural aspect, a straw tint. No costume looks better than a plain Tusore made between heliotrope and blue, dull pink and purple, puce and Wedgwood, which is most admirable in dress all of one tone takes a yellowish shade, almost buff, and looks well under the influence of trimmings of thick crochet lace to match.

Feather boas are making their re-appearance, and are mostly shaded with two colors. Many reach to the bust, others to the waist, and others again to the knees, while tassels of silk or feathers terminate them, and velvet ribbons also sometimes do this decorative duty.

Hats are being pushed further and further back, until there is as much hair to be seen from the forehead as from the nape of the neck; indeed, in many cases there is more to be seen at the front than the back. Such a state of affairs is by no means conducive to a trim outline, but it attains favor, and no doubt, will continue to do so during the whole of this season. To such millinery I confess I do not pay that fealty which I usually bestow upon any fashion just for fashion's sake, for in truth I do not think it is becoming to one woman out of a thousand, and I am convinced that the other 999 will wear it with enthusiasm.

The outline is open and low, the trimming pendant at the back, a wreath of flowers being most popular round the brim. And now a word concerning the dresses displayed in our pictures. In the larger illustration are shown two costumes, the one on the left being in the new, banana colored Shantung silk, striped faintly with red, and the other is of white chiffon pointed with trailing stripes of black ribbon, alternating with applique bands of narrow silver lace and finished off in true lover's knot bows where the whiteness of the chiffon merges into an intricate band of about blue, patterned with shadowy pink roses, this in its turn being succeeded by a band of silver tissue veiled with a cobwebby black and headed by folds of plain pink, blue and silver, and a trail of tiny silken blossoms wrought in blue and pink silk. All this exquisite detail is repeated on the bodice, with the addition of some cobwebby lace, sundry silken and silver tassels, and a knot of black ribbon, catching in a loop-stalled rose white a tassel where quite a bouquet of pink roses against the hair in front, and three pale blue ostrich feathers curve over the back. In a worthy crown for an exquisite gown.

The dress in our smaller illustration is one of the latest designs in voile and is both exquisite and graceful.

"Coffee" as Made in England.

It may be possible that there are some persons who grow old so thoroughly that they actually forget that they ever were children, but I can't help wondering if any man or woman ever lived to such an age as to become impervious to the delights of "coffee," or the butter scotch that has made Doncaster a household word to every civilized nation under the sun. Of course, you have eaten it—to the joy of your soul and to the detriment of your teeth—and, if you will promise not to repeat it, I will give you the secret recipe for this candy, for it is made nowhere as in England: Take three pounds of "coffee" or "C" sugar, butter to the amount of a pound and a quarter, with half a teaspoonful of cream of tartar. First dissolve the sugar in just as much cold water as may be required for that purpose, then mix all the ingredients together, and boil them, without stirring the mixture until it will snap when dropped into cold water. At this moment remove it from the fire; add eight or ten drops of lemon extract, according to its strength, and pour the mixture into well-greased pans to be cut into squares as it cools.—Fruit Candy and Iced Candy. See the advertisement for F. A. Yost Co. in the Hopkinsville for January.

Prune Salad.

Prunes served as a salad are a novelty that is decidedly worth trying. The prunes, after being washed in sherry and then candied with wat nuts or pecans, put on the crisppest, palest lettuce leaves and dressed with a dressing half twice the amount of lemon juice as it has oil, and mustard, celery salt and pepper. It's a delicious salad.

THE CIGARETTE CASE

SILENT TOKEN OF AN OLD MAN'S DEEP GRATITUDE.

Lieutenant in the British Army Finds Opportunity for Active Service on the Strand, Snatching Unknown Donor From Death.

One day last December an old gentleman was walking leisurely along the Strand, London.

It may be that his thoughts were hazy on the brightly lighted shops, more resplendent than usual now with Christmas wares of every sort.

Or it may be that he was intent on the constant stream that flowed by. Some people eluded past him, his pace no pace for them; others brushed against him rudely, eager to proceed in an opposite direction.

Sadly he may have recalled the days of his youth, when the young were taught to respect the old, and treat them with courtesy.

Let us follow the old gentleman in his movements. The sight is not a very exciting one. There is nothing to imagine that within a few minutes he will be standing on the curb pale and trembling at the thought of a horrible death from which he had been snatched in the nick of time.

The old gentleman suddenly turns to the right, and makes as if to cross the street. At the edge of the pavement he pauses and glances cautiously before him.

Seemingly the way is sufficiently clear for him to venture across. He steps on to the asphalt road, unconscious that bearing rapidly down on him is a motor bus.

Then he sees the danger. Retreat appears impossible. The great red car is almost on him. Something suddenly grips the old gentleman by the arm. He feels himself as it were snatched into the air.

Buy Hair at Auction?

At any rate, you seem to be getting rid of it on auction-sale principles: "going, going, gone!" Stop the auction with Ayer's Hair Vigor. It certainly checks falling hair; no mistake about this. It acts as a regular medicine; makes the scalp healthy. Then you must have healthy hair, for it's nature's way.

HERNDON NOTES.

Movements of People in South Christian.

Herndon, Ky., June 10.—It seems as if summer is trying to make up for lost time and now people are complaining because "it's so hot."

The farmers who were lucky enough to have plants are through setting tobacco. There is no complaint of not having seasons to set it, but such a scarcity of plants has never been known in the neighborhood before.

The hail storm Friday night did considerable damage to young corn and the lightning played havoc with telephones.

Misses Nell Dawson and Mary Major are guests of Miss Annie L. White at Howell.

Miss Sallie Faulkner, who has been attending school at Bowling Green, is at home to spend vacation.

Miss Louisa Pace spent last week in Hopkinsville.

Mrs. E. L. Gales returned Saturday after a pleasant visit to friends in Greenville, Ky.

Miss Ada Adcock, of Church Hill is the guest of Mrs. S. W. Johnston this week.

Miss Katie Mitchell left today, for an extended visit to friends in Hopkinsville.

Miss Effie Dawson of Roaring Springs, spent several days with Mrs. A. W. Crenshaw last week.

Miss Julia Williams, who was the guest of the Misses Roberts for several days, left for her home in Mississippi, Saturday night.

Several members of the "Old Maids" club of Beverly are regular attendants at Sunday School here, seems as if that club will lose one of its most popular members before long. Perhaps they won't leave this neighborhood though.

Quarterly meeting will be held at the M. E. church here this month, Saturday and Sunday in this month.

Badly Mixed Up.

Abraham Brown, of Winterton, N. Y., had a very remarkable experience; he says: "Doctors got badly mixed up over me; one said heart disease; two called it kidney trouble; the fourth, blood poison, and the fifth stomach and liver trouble; but none of them did me any good, so my wife advised trying Electric Bitters, which are restoring me to perfect health. One bottle did me more good than all the five doctors prescribed. Guaranteed to cure blood poison, weakness and all stomach, liver and kidney complaints, sold by R. C. Hardwick, druggist, 50c."

YOUNG PHYSICIAN.

Declared Insane and Brought to Asylum.

Dr. B. D. Woodburn, of Central City, was received at the Western asylum, Monday evening for treatment. He was adjudged of unsound mind several weeks ago, but escaped and went to Louisville. Last Friday he came to Henderson, where he was taken in charge, and the asylum officials were later notified. Dr. Woodburn is a graduate of the Louisville Medical College and is a son of Dr. J. T. Woodburn, a leading physician of Central City and president of the Central City Deposit Bank. Over study is said to have caused the derangement of the young man.

Telegraphy.

The fact that telegraph operators are taught and sent out to railroad positions almost every week, by the Bowling Green Business University, is sufficient evidence of the thoroughness of the training by that institution. This is now one of the largest commercial schools in America and the enrollment is increasing every year. The University has the largest Telegraphy School in the South, and the third largest in the world.

MONTHLY MEETING

Of Planters Association Will Be Held Monday.

ON HIS DEATH BED.

Claims Bride When Had Only Hour to Live.

Louisville, Ky., June 10.—Lying on his death bed and knowing that he could live only a few hours, Robert Horner, son of a Philadelphia millionaire and vice president and general manager of the Kosmos Portland Cement company was married yesterday morning at 11:30 o'clock at the Norton infirmary to Miss Elizabeth Dallam Burnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Burnett, of 1521 Fourth avenue, this city, who was to have become his bride Tuesday. Six hours later he died in the presence of relatives from Philadelphia, whose mission of joy in coming to attend the celebration of his marriage to Miss Burnett was turned to one of sorrow.

Mr. Horner, a few days ago, took out $25,000 insurance for his wife to be and before he died commended her to the care of his family.

TELEPHONE WINS.

Draws First Blood In The Paducah Case.

The demurrer entered by the City of Paducah to the injunction suit filed against the city by the East Tennessee Telephone company was overruled Saturday by Judge Walter Evans, of the United States court, to which the suit was carried. The city will be given until August in which to file answer to the proceedings of the telephone company. This is a victory for the telephone people so far. The municipality was represented by Hon. Hal S. Corbett and City Solicitor James Campbell, Jr., who have returned from Louisville. The telephone company was represented by Charles K. Wheeler, of the city.—News Democrat.

DEDICATION

Of Lebanon Church Sunday A Great Event.

The Princeton Leader says: More than a thousand people were present at the dedication the new Baptist church at Lebanon Sunday, June 9th, Bro. J. U. Spurlin, assisted by Pastor Ramey, officiated. Bro. Spurlin is 83 years old and has been a preacher of the gospel 64 years. Has baptized more than five thousand people. Notwithstanding the great age of this old patriarch in the cause of Christ, it was conceded by all that his sermon on this occasion was the best he had ever preached.

BODY CLEANING EVERY SPRING MORE URGENT THAN HOUSE CLEANI

Many Women Have Discovered That a Course of Treatn With Pe-ru-na Cleanses the System of the Accumulations of Winter.

MRS. ALICE BRADLEY.

Mrs. Alice Bradley, Thorold, Ont., Can., writes: "Two years ago I became weak and run down and as time passed I gradually failed until a year ago when I experienced a stroke of paralysis. My left side and I was helpless. I called in professional medical treatment, but steadily grew worse."

"I had decided I never would rise again from my bed, but when Peruna was brought to me and after having taken four bottles of it, I was able to be out and a wonder to myself and friends."

"I consider Peruna a great blessing to the afflicted. I can add that my daughter has also used Peruna and has been blessed with renewed health. I believe Peruna has saved my life."

Clean Up Once a Year.

CLEANING up the body in the spring is a duty everyone owes to himself. It is a duty everyone owes to himself. It is a duty everyone owes to himself. It is a duty everyone owes to himself.

Those people who have regular bodily functions have a clear and delicate skin. Peruna helps to restore these functions. It cures skin diseases, depends upon systemic derangements, which cannot be corrected by local treatments. Peruna is a safe and sure remedy, reorganizes and regulates the whole body.

JAPANESE LIBRARY

NEW INSTITUTION AT TOKIO HAS JUST BEEN OPENED UP.

Is Part of the Imperial University and Was Modeled After the Boston Public
Library.

The Tokyo Public Library has been the inspiration and model for the new library of the Imperial university (Tokoku Daigaku) at Tokio. The grouping of the buildings around an interior court, the large arched windows of the facade, the stacks in which the books are stored, the use of many varieties of marble in its interior decoration, but more especially the general reading room, with its resemblance to Hales Hall, the arrangement of the double row of tables, lit by electric lights, the cases of reference books, which in time will extend entirely around the room —they all make evident the fact that Japan considers Boston the best authority on libraries, and honors her by imitation.

At the present time only one-fourth of the building is finished and occupied. At the end of eight years it will be completed.

The library and the other buildings of the Imperial university are beautifully situated in Yueno Park, the most popular resort in Tokio, world-famous for its temples, its fountains, the Shoguns, and especially for its avenue of cherry trees. Here, the first week in April, all Tokio assembles to admire and feast upon the beautiful sight of masses of pale pink cherry blossoms, filling the air like clouds, to drink tea, exchange courtesies and make a general holiday.

The library supported from the national tax, was founded in 1872. The national department of education donated more than 10,000 volumes of Japanese books, and the educational department of the several provinces gave about 15,000 additional volumes.
A number of books in other languages were bought at this time, English predominating.

Since then a copy of every book printed in the country has been added to the collection, until at the present time it numbers 180,196 Japanese and Chinese books, and 40,834 foreign, making a total of more than 225,000 volumes, an excellent result for the number of years.

Since 1875 the library has wholly a circulating one. In that year a reading room was provided for reference work. The arrangement of the books was also revised, and all worn or mutilated volumes discarded, leaving on the shelves a total of 20,695.

In the first two years of the existence of the library it was open evening and the books loaned free. From 1874 to 1897 the building was closed at six p. m., when it was again reopened, and the library has since succeeded in becoming a great success.
The general public, as well as the students of the university, are now privileged to borrow the books on the payment of a small fee.

The library's collection in 1897 the rules and regulations were revised, the name changed from the Tokyo Library to the Imperial library, and plans adopted for erecting a large and modernly equipped structure.

The success that the library has obtained has been greatly due to the efforts of the librarian, Mr. I. Tanaka, who was sent by the government several years ago to make a tour of America and Europe, studying libraries and their methods. Mr. Tanaka has a very pleasant memory of his visit to the Harvard library and the Boston Public Library, where he made many friends, with whom he has since kept in touch.

During the war with Russia the patronage greatly decreased, but since then has been restored. The statistics for 1905 show that there were 144,532 readers, and 743,320 books circulated.

The classification of the books, as given in the last report, is interesting as showing the national bent. General literature and poetry are the largest class, having 37,335 Japanese and Chinese and 10,963 foreign works; nautics, engineering and industrial arts have 24,769 volumes; science, medicine and 6,230 foreign; science, mathematics and medical works are divided in the same manner. Recently has the number, 9,723 Japanese and Chinese and 827 foreign, as against 12,890 Japanese and Chinese and 6,897 foreign for philosophy, history and biography is represented by 39,059, and foreign by 5,530 works. Law, economics and statistics has a good showing with 14,769 works, numbering 19,431, and foreign 7,089, with 23,852 native and 4,414 foreign essays complete the list.

Round About New York

Gossip of People and Things in the Great Metropolis

WIDOW HEIRESS PREFERS HAPPINESS TO MONEY

NEW YORK.—Mrs. Catherine Walker-Duray, known at the time of her marriage to William Duray, Jr., son of the late starch manufacturer, as the prettiest girl in Glen Cove, L. I., will lose her share of her late husband's $370,000 estate by marrying a young preacher.

Her father-in-law's will, recently admitted to probate, leaves her $150,000 outright if she remains single and more than $100,000 at the death of his wife, if she has not taken a husband.
She gets practically nothing if she weds.

Regardless of the will, she is to marry in the near future Rev. Samuel Anderson, who recently graduated from Princeton university, and who at present is teacher of languages in the Harvard Theological seminary.

She met the minister at Clifton Springs, where they were both spending a part of last winter in search of health. They fell in love, much to the surprise of the Duray family, and it so happens that Mrs. Walker-Duray will not only give up her fortune but will permanently suffer the frowns of her relatives if she persists in marrying a theologian's son.

They had planned to be married a few days ago, but the death of Mr.
Duray at his home in Nyack, N. Y., caused postponement of the ceremony. Following this a report was circulated that the engagement had been broken.

The couple said the Duray family was responsible for this rumor, and so in great anger they declared they would wait on the date originally set.
Rev. Anderson intervened, John Duray, an uncle of Mrs. Duray, died. His funeral took place the day that the wedding was to have taken place.

Rev. Anderson was told that under the Duray will the daughter-in-law would forfeit her share of the estate if she married.

We knew full well the provisions of Mr. Duray's will," said he, "and it does not make a particle of difference in our plans. My intended wife has made her decision and she will not change it because by marrying me she loses the money that would have been set for her from her father-in-law's estate."

Mr. Donovan has a big job on his hands, without a doubt, as the rights of private property are pretty closely guarded in this country. But all jobs must be done, and the landlady's fathers are founded on solid facts, rather custom. The borough of Man-hatten is a place for only the very best of the very poor, and the rights of the poor are tolerably well looked after
in the matter of housing, but the great middle class suffers by reason of the fact that comparatively small provision has been made for them within the means. The enormous increase in the cost of living in New York city proper, combined with the almost oppressive increase in rents for moderately comfortable quarters, is driving hundreds away.

WOMAN KEEPS SERVANT GIRL SIXTEEN YEARS

THERE are many remarkable women in New York, but the more remarkable of them all, probably, is Mrs. Hule Kline, the clever American wife of the superintendent of the Presbyterian Chinese mission at 28 West Ninth street.

For eighteen years she has been her husband's associate in the mission work. During this time Mrs. Hule not only has the duties pertaining to an American household of extraordinary size to attend to, but she has had to shoulder many additional responsibilities imposed by Chinese custom.

Despite the fact that she has nine children, the last two of which are twins, and that she has many children like most children, are enough to wear out any ordinary woman, she remains young and does not look to be a day more than 25 years of age.

She adds to the family income by renting rooms in her big house to two Americans, man and wife, two or three young Chinamen, and a Japanese, students at Columbia university.
She assists regularly at the four or five services her husband holds on Sunday.

She has 40 or 50 guests to dinner every Sunday. She is the leading spirit in a woman's club. She has kept her own servant—a German woman—for 15 years. Some persons will consider this last achievement the greatest of all. The Hule Kline lives in the heart of a district which once was the most fashionable and fashionable of New York.

Many stories were circulated in Wall street as to the causes of the retirement of John W. Gates and the coterie of Westerners who plunged so heavily into stocks.

The trend of most of these stories is to the effect that while Mr. Gates is still worth millions in common with many of the rich men in Wall street, he was caught in the big decline of March 14 last.

The heavy liquidation in many of the low-priced stocks that took place recently is looked upon as evidence of a Gates house cleaning before his final retirement from the street.

According to a story circulated in the street, Mr. Gates was a very large holder of Tennessee Coal & Iron, Results & Improvement. These stocks he is said to have accumulated with a view to holding them as permanent investments.

During the recent decline it is belied that these stocks were freely used as collateral in his other stock market transactions and when the big slump came he was bankers whom Mr.

Gates approached to assist in arranging his affairs over the crisis suggested that he was rich enough to retire from business speculation and that his retirement would be made a condition of his lending aid.

Mr. Gates agreed that this was so, and it is said, readily acquiesced to the arrangement.

As a matter of fact, Mr. Gates was thoroughly disgusted with some of his customers, who had failed to respond to his call for margins.

The firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. had been carrying a lot of people in speculative operations who proved ungrateful when the call for funds proceeded to the limit of their ability to make. This is said to have been one of the main causes for the retirement of the firm.

real owners, through paid agents.
Mr. Donovan also wants all grievances, such as the lack of promised steam heat, hot water, stairs and hall-ways not lawfully lighted, ample fire escapes, odors caused by bad plumbing or poor ventilation, filthy or disease-breeding carpets or rugs, reported to the union, so that proper action may be taken against the offending landlord.

Donovan has a big job on his hands, without a doubt, as the rights
of private property are pretty closely guarded in this country. But all jobs
must be done, and the landlady's
fathers are founded on solid facts,
rather custom. The borough of Man-hatten is a place for only the very best
of the very poor, and the rights of the poor are tolerably well looked after
in the matter of housing, but the great
middle class suffers by reason of the fact that comparatively small provision
has been made for them within the means. The enormous increase in the cost of living in New York city proper,
combined with the almost oppressive
increase in rents for moderately comfortable quarters, is driving hundreds
away.

A DEMON OF WAR

NEW MAXIM GUN A MOST TERRI-BLE ENGINE OF DESTRUCTION.

Able in the Hands of Two Men to Now Destroy a Fort, Piercing Accuracy 700 Men in a Minute.

The Maxim rapid-fire automatic gun has just been brought to a state of perfection whereby it is claimed to be able to wipe out of existence 700 men per minute, a feat which is startling even to the military world.
Technically it is called the Vickers Sons & Maxim automatic machine gun, while in soldiers' parlance it is referred to as "the devil's spot."
"The power of the battlefield." While the latter expressions suggest a saturnal convulsion, the fact that the gun can kill 700 men in one minute is ample proof of its superhuman destructive powers.

Stand 700 soldiers in front of one of these guns—in one minute they are turned into corpses! Press and hold the trigger which fires the gun for ten minutes, and 7,000 cartridges will have been exploded, an average of 11 shots per second. Consider the fact that this death-dealing instrument can be carried and operated by two men and imagine what a powerful fighting machine Uncle Sam's small armies will become when every company equipped with a "devil's spot."

In appearance it is like a toy and not in the least impressive. In fact, it seems quite harmless—especially when packed upon the back of a mule. For this reason the outfit in charge of two of these guns is often dubbed "The Jackass Battery."

A brief description of the gun is interesting. It is mounted on a detachable tripod, weighing, with the latter, about 150 pounds. Gun and tripod being of equal weight, the machine can, when separated, be carried with ease by two men. When mounted and in position the gun itself is about three feet above the ground, and on account of its size cannot be seen very easily at distances beyond 600 yards. The tripod is provided with traveling and elevating mechanism by which the gun is moved to the right or left, up or down, without in the least disturbing its stability.

Viewed from in front the gun has the appearance of a solid stovepipe. This is a heavy steel tubing known as the water jacket through which the rifle barrel passes. Before a shot is fired this jacket must be filled with water for the purpose of keeping the barrel from burning out or melting. An ordinary rifle barrel fired through say about ten times, in rapid succession, will become so heated as to become unmanageable. It is obvious what would happen to a rifle barrel fired with such rapidity as the Maxim is capable of. As it is, the water in the 600 yards. The tripod is provided

ism by which the gun is moved to the

Behind the water jacket is a casing in which are fixed the feed box with lock and firing mechanism and handle lock. A powerful recoil spring is affixed to the left side of the casing.

To prepare the gun for firing, after the water jacket is filled, a belt of 250 cartridges is inserted in the feed box and the handle of the lock is twice thrown forward and allowed to spring back. The first move forward withdraws a cartridge from the belt and places it in a carrier, the second move inserts the first cartridge into the chamber of the rifle and withdraws another from the belt in the same manner as the first. The gun is now in readiness. By pressing the trigger bar a spring is released which allows the plunger to strike the cartridge in the chamber of the rifle barrel. The firing of this cartridge creates a recoil which is taken up by the powerful spring above referred to and thus converted into a force or power by which different parts of the mechanism are operated. This is repeated as often as a cartridge is fired. One contrivance by which a empty shell from the chamber, one inserts a new cartridge, one takes a cartridge from the belt, another retracts the trigger spring. All these parts are adjusted to a nicety, and as long as the trigger spring is kept retracted by pressure on the trigger bar and ammunition is in the belt they operate in a perfect unison and with such rapidity that the human eye cannot follow.

A WOMAN'S BACK

The Aches and Pains Will Disappear if the Advice of This Hopkinsville Citizen Is Followed.

A woman's back has many aches and pains. Most times 'tis the kidney's fault. Backache is really kidney ache, that's why Doan's Kidney Pills cure it. Many Hopkinsville women know this. Read what one has to say about it:

Mrs. John Coombs, 1226 South Virginia street, Hopkinsville, Ky., says:
"For a great many years I suffered from a persistent aching across my loins and through my kidneys.
At times my back was so bad I could hardly turn in bed; I could not lie on my back without putting my hand under it, for in this way it seemed to relieve the pain. A friend of Mr.
Coombs told me about Doan's Kidney Pills and he got a box for me at L. A. Johnson & Co.'s drug store. On using them, I steadily improved until the dreadful aching was relieved and I could attend to my household duties without inconvenience. Doan's Kidney Pills did more for me than any other medicine I ever used, and

SEN. MORCAN DIES IN HARNESS

Expires at Washington Where He Was On Business.

SENATOR POR 30 YEARS.

Was Soldier, Statesman And Leader Whose Place Cannot Be Filled.

Washington, June 12.—United States Senator John Tyler Morcan, of Alabama, died here at 11:15 o'clock last night.

John Tyler Morcan was born at Athens, Tenn., June 20, 1824. He received an academic education, chiefly in Alabama, to which State he emigrated when nine years old, and where he had since resided.

Senator Morcan was elected to the United States Senate to succeed George Goldthwaite, Democrat, and he first took his seat on March 5, 1877. He was re-elected in 1882 and in 1894. Senator Morcan was nominated for a fifth term in the Senate by a caucus of the Democratic party, and also by a meeting of the Republican and Populist parties, who differed with him politically, and on November 17, 1900, was chosen by the unanimous vote of the Senate and House of Representatives of Alabama for a fifth term, and re-elected for a sixth term.

UNKNOWN FRIENDS
Give a Delightful Function at Elks Club Rooms.

The social session held at the Elks club rooms Monday night in honor of Mayor Meacham, T. C. Underwood, Rob. Fairleigh and John B. Russell, was attended by fifty or more members of the Lodge who were invited guests of "unknown friends" who let the affair come and go without revealing their identity. Col. Joust Henry was requested in a letter to start the session and at his request Mayor Meacham acted as toastmaster. Speeches, jokes and a good time generally took up the time from 8 to 11:30 o'clock.

A Real Wonderland.
South Dakota, which is rich silver mines, bonanza farms, wide ranges and strange natural formations, is a veritable wonderland. At Mount City, in the home of Mrs. E. D. Clapp, a wonderful case of healing has lately occurred. Her son seemed near death with lung and throat trouble. "Exhausting" coughing spells occurred every five minutes," writes Mrs. Clapp, "when I began giving Dr. King's New Discovery, the great medicine that saved his life and completely cured him." TODD COUNCIL Held Over to Federal Court at Examining Trial.

Deputy Marshal T. J. Cundiff arrested Walter Boyd five miles west of Elkton Tuesday on a charge of retailing. At the examining trial before Commissioner L. Yonts yesterday, Boyd was held over. Bond was fixed at $300, which was furnished.

West-Reynolds.
Mr. Robert A. West was married last night to Miss Beulah Reynolds, of East Lake, Ala. Rev. A. P. Lyon, of the Methodist church, performed the ceremony. Mr. West is a son of the late W. H. West. The bride has for some time been on a visit to her brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. West will go to housekeeping at the West homestead on West Seventh street. They have the good wishes of many friends.

BUILDING NOTES.

We wish we were able to give forth the news that Hopkinsville was to have a government building. The urgent need of such a place for the transaction of the large and steadily increasing business of the local office is patent to all. Since the introduction of the rural free deliveries and the delivery in the city by carriers more room is absolutely necessary. In fact it would be hard to name anything that is not needed—more light, water, steam heat, an electric light plant, and other things would all be included in a public building. There is a numerous signed petition, filed away somewhere in Washington, in which our people ask for a building somewhat commensurate with the rapidly growing population and consequent growth of transactions in the postoffice.

Again the department wants to put on another carrier in the city. The aim is to extend the routes of the carriers, if possible, to the city limits. One of the conditions demanded is that all houses shall be numbered and sidewalks put down in front of the houses. The council will at once have the houses numbered on the new streets and others, and as to sidewalks Hopkinsville is already the best paved city in Kentucky and work in this line is continually going on.

Workmen are nearly through combing and brushing the concrete walls of the Y. M. C. A. building and it is certainly a great improvement. As to when the interior work is to be finished we are not advised. "One good turn deserves another." If our people would come to the rescue as they did in paying off the debt of the tabernacle it would be a good thing and of lasting benefit to the city. Why not finish up the lower floor and rent the rooms until the amount needed is raised to complete the building throughout?

The much talked of plan of making the lake of the Water Company a resort for picnickers, boating parties, et cetera, ad libitum, and so on, seems to have died aborning, so far as our information goes. The whole thing seems to have been nothing but air and water—cold water and hot air, so to speak. If there is anything else in it, we would be glad to be better informed and more than delighted to make the correction.

For the past several months there has been a great deal said about widening the stone bridges on North Main and East 7th streets and the new street to run through the Means property and connect North Main with one of the streets running north from West 7th street will no doubt be opened soon.

Brick laying will soon begin on the Forbes Mfg. Co.'s large office building at 10th and Main. The front will be of white brick. The brick are perhaps a little different from any heretofore used here. They are made of 90 per cent. white sand and 10 per cent. lime, hydraulic steam pressed. They will make a beautiful front.

Plans have been submitted to builders here for two different additions to the Western Lunatic asylum. Dalton Bros. received drawings for the brick walls Tuesday. The additions may cost approximately $7,000 to $8,000.

The Climax Mill building is completed. The big engine has been planted and the dynamo for lighting the building throughout will soon be in also. Everything is on the run to be ready for starting July 1st, to grind the new crop of wheat.

Plans are in the hands of contractors for the erection of the large department house of J. H. Anderson & Co. It is expected that bids will all be in in a short time now. The magnificent structure will be ready for the fall trade.

Mr. J. F. Garnett has placed in the hands of contractors the plans and specifications for his new store room to adjoin the Anderson department building, we learn. The building is to be ready by the end of the year.

The handsome new home of Messrs. Lucian H. Davis and Monroe Dalton, on East 7th street, are going up rapidly.

T. J. Tate's large new residence is to be completed by fall and work is progressing rapidly.

John J. Metcalfe, who recently bought the Tibbs house, is moving in. He will spend about $1,000 in improvements.

The addition to the Baptist church is being pushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

The large apartment house at 6th and Main streets is going up rapidly. The walls are now up to the floor of the second story.

The bids for the enlargement of the Christian church are all in and the committee is making notes and comparing the bids, every detail being carefully looked into. It will not be many days, we are informed, before the contract is let.

CITIZEN COURT.

Civil Matters Claiming Attention of Court.

Only Civil matters have been claiming the attention of the court this week and none of any importance to the public has been disposed of. Monday was consumed in the trial of an attachment sent from Edlysville. The grand jury which has been in session since June 3, was expected to report its findings yesterday afternoon. Considerable business is yet to be disposed of by that body and it is not likely that an adjournment will be reached for several days. Next week will be devoted to the trial of Commonwealth cases. There are two murder cases set for Monday. The case of Geo. Putman will probably be called first and if trial is entered into the most of the week will probably be consumed in disposing of this case, when the case of the Commonwealth against Harvie Davie, col., will be taken up.
